Proof of Claim

Read the instructions before filling out this form. This form is for making a claim for payment in a bankruptcy case. Do not use this form to make a request for payment of an administrative expense (other than a claim entitled to priority under 11 U.S.C. § 503(b)(9)). Make such a request according to 11 U.S.C. § 503.

Filers must leave out or redact information that is entitled to privacy on this form or on any attached documents. Attach redacted copies of any documents that support the claim, such as promissory notes, purchase orders, invoices, itemized statements of running accounts, contracts, judgments, mortgages, and security agreements. Do not send original documents; they may be destroyed after scanning. If the documents are not available, explain in an attachment.

A person who files a fraudulent claim could be fined up to $500,000, imprisoned for up to 5 years, or both. 18 U.S.C. §§ 152, 157, and 3571.

Fill in all the information about the claim as of the date the case was filed. That date is on the notice of bankruptcy (Form 309) that you received.

Attachment

PLEASE REVIEW YOUR PROOF OF CLAIM AND SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS AND REDACT ACCORDINGLY PRIOR TO UPLOADING THEM. PROOFS OF CLAIM AND ATTACHMENTS ARE PUBLIC DOCUMENTS THAT WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR ANYONE TO VIEW ONLINE.

IMPORTANT NOTE REGARDING REDACTING YOUR PROOF OF CLAIM AND SUPPORTING DOCUMENTATION When you submit a proof of claim and any supporting documentation you must show only the last four digits of any social-security, individual's tax-identification, or financial-account number, only the initials of a minor's name, and only the year of any person's date of birth. If the claim is based on the delivery of health care goods or services, limit the disclosure of the goods or services so as to avoid embarrassment or the disclosure of confidential health care information.

A document has been redacted when the person filing it has masked, edited out, or otherwise deleted, certain information. The responsibility for redacting personal data identifiers (as defined in Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9037) rests solely with the party submitting the documentation and their counsel. Prime Clerk and the Clerk of the Court will not review any document for redaction or compliance with this Rule and you hereby release and agree to hold harmless Prime Clerk and the Clerk of the Court from the disclosure of any personal data identifiers included in your submission. In the event Prime Clerk or the Clerk of the Court discover that personal identifier data or information concerning a minor individual has been included in a pleading, Prime Clerk and the Clerk of the Court are authorized, in their sole discretion, to redact all such information from the text of the filing and make an entry indicating the correction.

These instructions and definitions generally explain the law. In certain circumstances, such as bankruptcy cases that debtors do not file voluntarily, exceptions to these general rules may apply. You should consider obtaining the advice of an attorney, especially if you are unfamiliar with the bankruptcy process and privacy regulations.

A person who files a fraudulent claim could be fined up to $500,000, imprisoned for up to 5 years, or both.
18 U.S.C. §§ 152, 157 and 3571.

How to fill out this form

- Fill in all of the information about the claim as of the date the case was filed.
- Fill in the caption at the top of the form.
- If the claim has been acquired from someone else, then state the identity of the last party who owned the claim or was the holder of the claim and who transferred it to you before the initial claim was filed.
- Attach any supporting documents to this form.
Attach redacted copies of any documents that show that the debt exists, a lien secures the debt, or both. (See the definition of redaction on the next page.)
Also attach redacted copies of any documents that show perfection of any security interest or any assignments or transfers of the debt. In addition to the documents, a summary may be added. Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure (called “Bankruptcy Rule”) 3001(c) and (d).
- Do not attach original documents because attachments may be destroyed after scanning.
- If the claim is based on delivering health care goods or services, do not disclose confidential health care information. Leave out or redact confidential information both in the claim and in the attached documents.

- A Proof of Claim form and any attached documents must show only the last 4 digits of any social security number, individual’s tax identification number, or financial account number, and only the year of any person’s date of birth. See Bankruptcy Rule 9037.
- For a minor child, fill in only the child’s initials and the full name and address of the child’s parent or guardian. For example, write A.B., a minor child (John Doe, parent, 123 Main St., City, State). See Bankruptcy Rule 9037.

Confirmation that the claim has been filed

Understand the terms used in this form

Administrative expense: Generally, an expense that arises after a bankruptcy case is filed in connection with operating, liquidating, or distributing the bankruptcy estate.
11 U.S.C. § 503.

Claim: A creditor’s right to receive payment for a debt that the debtor owed on the date the debtor filed for bankruptcy.
11 U.S.C. § 101 (5). A claim may be secured or unsecured.

Claim Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §503(b)(9): A claim arising from the value of any goods received by the Debtor within 20 days before the date of commencement of the above case, in which the goods have been sold to the Debtor in the ordinary course of the Debtor's business. Attach documentation supporting such claim.

Creditor: A person, corporation, or other entity to whom a debtor owes a debt that was incurred on or before the date the debtor filed for bankruptcy. 11 U.S.C. §101 (10).

Debtor: A person, corporation, or other entity who is in bankruptcy. Use the debtor's name and case number as shown in the bankruptcy notice you received. 11 U.S.C. § 101 (13).

Evidence of perfection: Evidence of perfection of a security interest may include documents showing that a security interest has been filed or recorded, such as a mortgage, lien, certificate of title, or financing statement.

Information that is entitled to privacy: A Proof of Claim form and any attached documents must show only the last 4 digits of any social security number, an individual's tax identification number, or a financial account number, only the initials of a minor's name, and only the year of any person's date of birth. If a claim is based on delivering health care goods or services, limit the disclosure of the goods or services to avoid embarrassment or disclosure of confidential health care information. You may later be required to give more information if the trustee or someone else in interest objects to the claim.

Priority claim: A claim within a category of unsecured claims that is entitled to priority under 11 U.S.C. §507(a). These claims are paid from the available money or property in a bankruptcy case before other unsecured claims are paid. Common priority unsecured claims include alimony, child support, taxes, and certain unpaid wages.

Proof of claim: A form that shows the amount of debt the debtor owed to a creditor on the date of the bankruptcy filing. The form must be filed in the district where the case is pending.

Redaction of information: Masking, editing out, or deleting certain information to protect privacy. Filers must redact or leave out information entitled to privacy on the Proof of Claim form and any attached documents.

Secured claim under 11 U.S.C. §506(a): A claim backed by a lien on particular property of the debtor. A claim is secured to the extent that a creditor has the right to be paid from the property before other creditors are paid. The amount of a secured claim usually cannot be more than the value of the particular property on which the creditor has a lien. Any amount owed to a creditor that is more than the value of the property normally may be an unsecured claim. But exceptions exist; for example, see 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b) and the final sentence of 1325(a).

Examples of liens on property include a mortgage on real estate or a security interest in a car. A lien may be voluntarily granted by a debtor or may be obtained through a court proceeding. In some states, a court judgment may be a lien.

Setoff: Occurs when a creditor pays itself with money belonging to the debtor that it is holding, or by canceling a debt it owes to the debtor.

Unsecured claim: A claim that does not meet the requirements of a secured claim. A claim may be unsecured in part to the extent that the amount of the claim is more than the value of the property on which a creditor has a lien.

Offers to purchase a claim

Certain entities purchase claims for an amount that is less than the face value of the claims. These entities may contact creditors offering to purchase their claims. Some written communications from these entities may easily be confused with official court documentation or communications from the debtor. These entities do not represent the bankruptcy court, the bankruptcy trustee, or the debtor. A creditor has no obligation to sell its claim. However, if a creditor decides to sell its claim, any transfer of that claim is subject to Bankruptcy Rule 3001(e), any provisions of the Bankruptcy Code (11 U.S.C. § 101 et seq.) that apply, and any orders of the bankruptcy court that apply.

Bankruptcy Case No. 20-22476 (RDD)

SUMMARY OF CLAIM

UMG Recordings, Inc., Capitol Records, LLC, and ABKCO Music & Records, Inc. (collectively, the “Universal Claimants”); Sony Music Entertainment, Arista Music, Arista Records LLC, LaFace Records LLC, Sony Music Entertainment US Latin, Volcano Entertainment III, L.L.C., and Zomba Recording LLC (collectively, the “Sony Claimants”); and Atlantic Recording Corporation, Atlantic Records Group LLC, Bad Boy Records LLC, Big Beat Records Inc., Elektra Entertainment Group Inc., Fueled by Ramen LLC, Lava Records LLC, Maverick Recording Company, Nonesuch Records Inc., Rhino Entertainment Company, Rhino Entertainment LLC, Roadrunner Records, Inc., Warner Music Inc., Warner Music International Services Limited, Warner Music Nashville LLC, and Warner Records Inc. (collectively, the “Warner Claimants,” and together with the Universal Claimants and the Sony Claimants, the “Copyright Claimants”) all hold administrative claims against Frontier Communications Corporation (“Frontier”) for Frontier’s liability for copyright infringement. Frontier is contributorily and vicariously liable for the thousands of direct infringements of at least 6,025 of the Copyright Claimants’ copyrighted sound recordings by Frontier’s subscribers.

Each of the Sony Claimants holds an administrative claim in an amount between $750 and $150,000 per work infringed or actual damages in unknown amount, plus attorneys’ fees and full costs, against Frontier based on Frontier’s liability for copyright infringement (collectively, the “Administrative Claim”). The exact amount of the Administrative Claim will be determined after the Copyright Claimants are given access to Frontier’s relevant books and records. Each Sony Claimant requests payment of its administrative claim pursuant to Section 503(b)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code.

In support of the Administrative Claim, the Sony Claimants state, on personal knowledge as to matters relating to themselves and on information and belief as to all other matters, as follows:

NATURE OF THE CLAIM

1. The Copyright Claimants comprise record companies that produce, manufacture, distribute, sell, and license commercial sound recordings, both in the United States and internationally. Through their enormous investments of money, time, and exceptional creative efforts, the Copyright Claimants and their representative recording artists have developed, marketed, and distributed musical works performed by some of the world’s most famous and popular artists. The Copyright Claimants own and/or control in whole or in part the copyrights and/or exclusive rights in innumerable sound recordings. The Copyright Claimants bring this claim to remedy a massive violation of their rights under 17 U.S.C. §§ 106, 501, and 1401 *et seq.*¹

2. Frontier is one of the largest Internet service providers in the United States. In 2019, Frontier had approximately 3.5 million Internet subscribers. At all pertinent times, Frontier's customers paid Frontier substantial subscription fees for access to and use of its high-speed Internet network, with Frontier offering a tiered pricing structure based on the speed of service. Frontier markets its high-speed service as enabling subscribers to "[d]ownload 10 songs in 3.5 seconds."

3. At all pertinent times, Frontier knew that its subscribers were using its high-speed network to illegally download and distribute the Copyright Claimants' sound recordings on Frontier's network. Frontier has received hundreds of thousands of copyright infringement notices from copyright owners, including the Copyright Claimants, but chose not to act on those notices to address the rampant infringement on its network.

4. Through the provision of its services to known infringers, Frontier knowingly contributed to, and reaped substantial profits from, massive copyright infringement committed by thousands of its subscribers, causing great harm to the Copyright Claimants, their recording artists, and others whose livelihoods depend upon the lawful acquisition of music. Frontier's contribution to its subscribers' infringement is both willful and material, and renders Frontier liable for its subscribers' infringing activity.

5. The infringement notices sent by the Copyright Claimants and other copyright owners advised Frontier of its subscribers' blatant and systematic use of Frontier's Internet service to illegally download, copy, and distribute copyrighted works through illicit BitTorrent sites and other online file-sharing services.

6. Frontier failed to adequately respond to these notices. It deliberately refused to take reasonable measures to curb its subscribers from using its service to infringe on the copyrights of others, including the Copyright Claimants, despite Frontier's direct knowledge of particular subscribers engaging in specific, repeated acts of infringement.

7. It is well-established law that a party may not contribute to infringing behavior that it knows is occurring. Further, a party with a direct financial interest in the infringing activity has a responsibility to stop or limit it, when it has the right and practical ability to do so. Despite its professed commitment to prohibit infringement on its network, Frontier ignored its own policy and deliberately failed to act on infringement notices. Frontier provided known repeat infringers with continued access to and use of its network and failed to terminate the accounts of, or otherwise take any meaningful action against, those subscribers. In reality, Frontier operated its network as an attractive tool and safe haven for infringement.

¹ All references to infringements and infringing activity below refer to reproductions and/or distributions of copyrighted works without authorization. Likewise, all references to infringers refer to subscribers who reproduce and/or distribute copyrighted works without authorization.

8. Frontier derived an obvious and direct financial benefit from its subscribers' infringement. Frontier marketed and promoted the high speeds of its network to attract those using peer-to-peer ("P2P") networks to infringe. The unlimited ability to download and distribute the Copyright Claimants' works through Frontier's service served as a draw for Frontier to attract and retain serial infringers as customers, and, as a consequence, to charge them higher fees for increased bandwidth and higher-tiered service. Moreover, by failing to terminate the accounts of specific recidivist infringers known to Frontier, Frontier obtained a direct financial benefit from that infringing activity. That financial benefit included improper revenue that Frontier would not have otherwise received had it terminated those accounts. Frontier decided not to terminate repeat infringers for one simple reason: it wanted to maintain the revenue stream that it generated from their accounts.

9. Frontier's subscribers' infringing activity that forms the basis for the Copyright Claimants' claims, and for which Frontier is secondarily liable, occurred after Frontier received multiple notices of those subscribers' infringing activity. Specifically, the Copyright Claimants seek relief for infringement of their copyrighted works that accrued between April 14, 2020 and April 30, 2021. During that timeframe, Frontier's subscribers have infringed 6,025 copyrighted works after those particular subscribers were identified to Frontier in multiple infringement notices. While the Copyright Claimants' claims accrued during this period of time, Frontier's knowledge of, and failure to take action against, repeat infringers began as early as 2013.

All of the sound recordings listed on Exhibit A have been registered, or filed pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 1401, with the U.S. Copyright Office.

Frontier

38. Debtor Frontier Communications Corporation is a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Connecticut, with its principal place of business at 401 Merritt 7, Norwalk, Connecticut 06851. Frontier also maintains substantial operations and offices in New York.

39. On April 14, 2020, Frontier and certain affiliated debtor entities filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of Title 11 of the United States Code in the Bankruptcy Court of the United States District Court of the Southern District of New York (“Bankruptcy Court”) (the “Petition Date”).

40. On April 30, 2021, Frontier filed a notice that the Fifth Amended Joint Plan of Reorganization of Frontier Communications Corporation and Its Debtor Affiliates Pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code (the “Plan”) became effective on that date (the “Effective Date”).

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

41. Between the Petition Date and the Effective Date, representatives of the Copyright Claimants transmitted to Frontier over 20,000 copyright infringement notices, which fully complied with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (“DMCA”), detailing specific instances of its subscribers accessing P2P services via Frontier’s network to unlawfully distribute and copy copyrighted works (“DMCA Notices”). P2P is a term used to refer to a decentralized network of users whereby each Internet-connected participant (i.e., a “peer” or a “node”) can act as both a supplier and consumer of content files. Attached as Exhibit B are true and correct copies of a sampling of the DMCA Notices sent to Frontier.²

42. The DMCA Notices identified the unique Internet Protocol (“IP”) address assigned to each user of Frontier’s network, in addition to the date and time the infringing activity was detected. Only Frontier, as the provider of the technology and system used to infringe, had the ability required to match the IP address to a particular subscriber, as well as to contact that subscriber or terminate that subscriber’s service.

43. The DMCA Notices advised Frontier of clear and unambiguous infringing activity by Frontier’s subscribers—that is, unauthorized downloading and distribution of copyrighted music. Frontier’s subscribers had no legal basis or justification for downloading or distributing digital copies of the Copyright Claimants’ sound recordings to thousands or millions of strangers over the Internet.

44. In addition to documenting the sheer volume of the infringing activity on its network, the DMCA Notices sent to Frontier identified specific subscribers who were flagrant and serial infringers.

45. Over the years, Frontier received thousands of infringement notices from other copyright owners. The Copyright Claimants are aware of some, but by no means all, of those notices. Those notices identified thousands of other Frontier subscribers engaged in blatant and repeated infringement, with more than 4,000 subscribers identified in three or more notices and some subscribers identified in 100 or more notices. Frontier controls access to this information and, to date, has not made it available to the Copyright Claimants.

46. These examples and countless others amply illustrate that, rather than terminating repeat infringers—and losing subscription revenues—Frontier consciously chose to look the other way in order to continue to collect subscriber fees.

47. During all pertinent times, Frontier had the full legal right, obligation, and technical ability to prevent or limit the infringements occurring on its network. Under Frontier’s “Acceptable Use Policy,” which its subscribers agreed to as a condition of using its Internet service, Frontier was empowered to suspend or terminate a subscriber’s Internet access for a variety of reasons, including a subscriber’s use of its network or services for “transmitting or receiving copyright infringing . . . material.” Further, Frontier’s Acceptable Use Policy expressly provided: “Repeated copyright infringements are grounds for termination of service.” Attached as Exhibit C is a true and correct copy of Frontier’s Acceptable Use Policy.

48. Despite these alleged policies, and despite receiving thousands of DMCA Notices from the Copyright Claimants’ representatives, and thousands of similar notices from other copyright owners, Frontier knowingly permitted specifically identified repeat infringers to continue to use its network to infringe. Rather than disconnect or otherwise address the Internet access of blatant repeat infringers, Frontier knowingly continued to provide these subscribers with the Internet access that enabled them to continue to illegally download or distribute the Copyright Claimants’ copyrighted works unabated. Frontier’s provision of high-speed Internet service materially contributed to these direct infringements.

49. Frontier’s motivation for refusing to terminate or suspend the accounts of blatant infringing subscribers was simple: it valued its own profits over its legal responsibilities. Retaining infringing subscribers provided a direct financial benefit to Frontier. Frontier did not want to lose subscriber revenue by terminating accounts of infringing subscribers. Frontier did not want to risk the possibility that account terminations would make its service less attractive to existing or prospective users. Moreover, infringing subscribers were especially profitable to Frontier. Illegal P2P activity consumes substantial internet data usage, leading subscribers to pay more money for plans with faster internet speeds and greater data usage. In addition, Frontier was simply disinterested in devoting sufficient resources to tracking repeat infringers, responding to infringement notices, and terminating accounts in appropriate circumstances. Considering only its own pecuniary gain, Frontier ignored and turned a blind eye to flagrant, repeat infringement by known specific subscribers, thus facilitating and multiplying the harm to the Copyright Claimants. And Frontier’s failure to adequately police its infringing subscribers was a draw to subscribers to purchase Frontier’s services, so that the subscribers could then use those services to infringe the Copyright Claimants’ (and others’) copyrights. The specific infringing subscribers identified in the DMCA Notices knew Frontier would not terminate their accounts despite receiving multiple notices identifying them as infringers, and they remained Frontier subscribers to continue illegally downloading copyrighted works.

50. The consequences of Frontier’s support of and profit from infringement are obvious and stark. The use of Frontier’s network by its subscribers to copy and distribute infringing copies of the Copyright Claimants’ copyrighted works undercuts the legitimate music market, depriving the Copyright Claimants, and those recording artists whose works they sell and license, of the compensation to which they are entitled. Without such compensation, the Copyright Claimants and their recording artists have fewer resources available to invest in the further creation and distribution of high-quality music.

ADMINISTRATIVE CLAIMS

Contributory Copyright Infringement Claim (17 U.S.C. § 101 et seq.)

51. Frontier and its subscribers do not have any authorization, permission, license or consent to exploit the copyrighted sound recordings at issue.

52. The Copyright Claimants are the legal or beneficial owners of the copyrighted works that were infringed by Frontier's subscribers and which were duly registered, or filed pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 1401, with the U.S. Copyright Office. Using Internet access and services provided by Frontier, its subscribers unlawfully reproduced and distributed via BitTorrent thousands of the Copyright Claimants' sound recordings, including those listed on Exhibit A. The foregoing activity constitutes direct infringement or an unauthorized act in violation of 17 U.S.C. §§ 106, 501, and 1401 et seq.

53. Frontier is contributorily liable for the direct infringements of its subscribers described herein. Through the DMCA Notices and other means, Frontier had knowledge that its network was being used for copyright infringement on a massive scale; Frontier also knew which specific subscribers engaged in such repeated and flagrant infringement. Nevertheless, Frontier facilitated, encouraged, and materially contributed to such infringement by continuing to provide its network and the facilities necessary for its subscribers to commit repeated infringements. Frontier had the means to withhold that assistance upon learning of specific infringing activity by specific users but failed to do so.

54. By purposefully ignoring and turning a blind eye to its subscribers' flagrant and repeated infringements, Frontier knowingly caused and materially contributed to the unlawful reproduction and distribution of the Copyright Claimants' copyrighted works, including but not limited to those listed on Exhibit A, in violation of the Copyright Claimants' exclusive rights under the copyright laws of the United States.

55. Each infringement of the Copyright Claimants' copyrighted sound recordings constitutes a separate and distinct act of infringement.

56. The foregoing acts of infringement by Frontier have been willful, intentional, and purposeful, in disregard of the Copyright Claimants' rights. Indeed, the sound recordings listed on Exhibit A represent works infringed by Frontier's subscribers after the Copyright Claimants identified those particular subscribers to Frontier in multiple DMCA Notices.

57. As a direct and proximate result of its wrongful conduct, Frontier has and will obtain benefits, including, but not limited to, profits to which Frontier is not entitled.

58. As a direct and proximate result of Frontier's willful infringement of the Copyright Claimants' copyrights, the Copyright Claimants are entitled to statutory damages, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c), in an amount between $750 and $150,000 with respect to each of the 6,025 works infringed, or such other amount as may be proper under 17 U.S.C. § 504(c). The number of works infringed and the request for damages will be adjusted, as necessary, after the Copyright Claimants are given access to Frontier's relevant books and records.

59. The Copyright Claimants are also entitled to their attorneys' fees and full costs pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 505.

Vicarious Copyright Infringement Claim (17 U.S.C. § 101 et seq.)

60. Frontier and its subscribers have no authorization, license or other consent to exploit the copyrighted sound recordings at issue.

61. The Copyright Claimants are the legal or beneficial owners of the copyrighted works that were infringed by Frontier's subscribers and which were duly registered, or filed pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 1401, with the U.S. Copyright Office. Using Internet access and services provided by Frontier, its subscribers unlawfully reproduced and distributed via BitTorrent and other P2P protocols thousands of the Copyright Claimants' sound recordings, including those listed on Exhibit A. The foregoing activity constitutes direct infringement or an unauthorized act in violation of 17 U.S.C. §§ 106, 501, and 1401 et seq.

62. Frontier had the legal right and practical ability to supervise and control the infringing activities that occurred through the use of its network and at all relevant times had a financial interest in, and derived direct financial benefit from, the infringing use of its network. Frontier derived an obvious and direct financial benefit from its subscribers' infringement. The ability to use Frontier's high-speed Internet facilities to illegally download the Copyright Claimants' copyrighted works served to draw, maintain, and generate higher fees from paying subscribers to Frontier's service. Among other financial benefits, by failing to terminate the accounts of specific repeat infringers known to Frontier, Frontier earned illicit revenue through user subscription fees that it would not have otherwise received from repeat infringers, as well as new subscribers drawn to Frontier's services for the purpose of illegally downloading copyrighted works. The specific infringing subscribers identified in the DMCA Notices, including the egregious infringers identified herein, knew Frontier would not terminate their accounts despite Frontier's receipt of multiple notices identifying them as infringers, and they remained Frontier subscribers to continue illegally downloading copyrighted works.

63. Frontier is vicariously liable for the unlawful reproduction and distribution of the Copyright Claimants' copyrighted works, including but not limited to those listed on Exhibit A, in violation of the Copyright Claimants' exclusive rights under the copyright laws of the United States.

64. Each infringement of the Copyright Claimants' copyrighted sound recordings constitutes a separate and distinct act of infringement.

65. The foregoing acts of infringement by Frontier have been willful, intentional, and purposeful, in disregard of the Copyright Claimants' rights. Indeed, the sound recordings listed on Exhibit A represent works infringed by Frontier's subscribers after the Copyright Claimants identified those particular subscribers to Frontier in multiple prior DMCA Notices.

66. As a direct and proximate result of its wrongful conduct, Frontier has and will obtain benefits, including, but not limited to, profits to which Frontier is not entitled.

67. As a direct and proximate result of Frontier's willful infringement of the Copyright Claimants' copyrights, the Copyright Claimants are entitled to statutory damages, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c), in an amount between $750 and $150,000 with respect to each of the 6,025 works infringed, or such other amount as may be proper under 17 U.S.C. § 504(c). The number of works infringed and the request for damages will be adjusted, as necessary, after the Copyright Claimants are given access to Frontier's relevant books and records.

68. The Copyright Claimants are also entitled to their attorneys' fees and full costs pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 505.

REQUEST FOR PAYMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE CLAIM

69. The Copyright Claimants file this claim for (a) statutory damages in an unliquidated amount based upon Frontier's willful acts of infringement of their copyrighted sound recordings and unauthorized acts, as alleged above, pursuant to the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §§ 101 et seq. or, alternatively, actual damages attributable to the infringements of the Copyright Claimants' copyrights and unauthorized acts alleged above, (b) the costs and disbursements of an action, including reasonable attorneys' fees, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 505, (c) pre-judgment and post-judgment interest, to the fullest extent available, on the foregoing, and (d) such other and further relief as a court deems just and proper.

70. The Copyright Claimants are entitled to payment of the Administrative Claim pursuant to Section 503(b)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code.

RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

This Administrative Claim is filed under compulsion of the bar date established in this case and is filed to protect the Copyright Claimants from forfeiture of the Administrative Claim.

The Sony Claimants expressly reserve all rights that they may now or at any time hereafter may have against Frontier, or any other entity or person, and any property held by Frontier or any such entity or person. This Proof of Claim is not intended to be, and shall not be construed as: (1) an election of remedies; (2) a waiver of any defaults; (3) a waiver or limitation on any rights, remedies, claims or interests of the Sony Claimants; or (4) a waiver of the right to a jury trial.

The Sony Claimants reserve any and all rights with respect to this Administrative Claim (and any other claims they may file in this bankruptcy case), including, but not limited to, the right to (a) amend, update or supplement this Administrative Claim at any time and in any respect; (b) file additional administrative claims or proofs of claim; (c) file requests for payment of administrative or priority expenses in accordance with 11 U.S.C. §§ 503 and 507; (d) file a motion to withdraw the reference; (e) object to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final order or judgment on jurisdictional grounds; (f) demand a jury trial; (g) commence an action in another forum pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 959; and (h) commence an action in another forum based on infringement of their copyrighted works occurring on dates not covered by this Administrative Claim.

By filing this Administrative Claim, the Sony Claimants do not submit to the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court for any purpose other than to comply with the Bankruptcy Court's Bar Date for filing the Administrative Claim, and the Sony Claimants do not waive, and specifically preserve all of their procedural, substantive, jurisdictional, and Constitutional defenses to, any claim that may be asserted against the Sony Claimants by Frontier or by any trustee of its estate, including any defense based upon the lack of jurisdiction of this Bankruptcy Court to entertain any such claim. The Sony Claimants specifically preserve their Constitutional right to a jury trial.

All notices, objections or other communications relating to this Administrative Claim should be addressed and sent to counsel for the Sony Claimants as follows:

Sir or Madam:

I am contacting you on behalf of the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA), the trade association whose member music companies create, manufacture, and/or distribute approximately 85% of all legitimate music sold in the United States.

If you are an Internet Service Provider (ISP), you have received this letter because we have identified a user on your network reproducing and/or distributing an unauthorized copy of a copyrighted sound recording(s). This letter constitutes notice to you that this user may be liable for infringing activity occurring on your network.

If you are an Internet subscriber (user), you have received this letter because your Internet account was used to illegally copy and/or distribute copyrighted music over the Internet through a peer-to-peer application.

Reproducing and distributing copyrighted works on a peer-to-peer network, such as BitTorrent, without the permission of the copyright owner, has been determined by the United States Supreme Court to be illegal. If you are caught engaging in this activity, you could be held liable.

To avoid legal consequences, you (if you are the user) should immediately delete and disable access to the unauthorized music on your computer. Learn how at the "copyright infringement notices" section of the RIAA website, available at <https://www.riaa.com/resources-learning/copyright-notices/>. That section also contains practical information about:

- how you were identified and why illegal downloading is not anonymous;
- what next steps to take; and
- where to get music online legally.

We encourage Internet subscribers to visit the website <http://www.whymusicmatters.com/> which contains a guide to the many authorized music sites where fans can go to listen to and/or purchase their favorite songs.

We have attached below the details of the illegal file-sharing that was identified on the account in question, including the time, date, and a representative sampling of the music copied or distributed. We assert that the information in this notice is accurate, based upon the data available to us. We have a good faith belief that this activity is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law. Under penalty of perjury, we submit that the RIAA is authorized to act on behalf of its member companies in matters involving the infringement of their sound recordings, including enforcing their copyrights and common law rights on the Internet. This letter does not constitute a waiver of any of our members' rights, and all such rights are expressly reserved.

If you have questions about this notice or need guidance on how to resolve this matter, feel free to contact us at (800) 656-1768 or send an email to the address listed below. Notice ID: 222177779784
Notice Date: 07-02-2020

Sir or Madam:

I am contacting you on behalf of the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA), the trade association whose member music companies create, manufacture, and/or distribute approximately 85% of all legitimate music sold in the United States.

If you are an Internet Service Provider (ISP), you have received this letter because we have identified a user on your network reproducing and/or distributing an unauthorized copy of a copyrighted sound recording(s). This letter constitutes notice to you that this user may be liable for infringing activity occurring on your network.

If you are an Internet subscriber (user), you have received this letter because your Internet account was used to illegally copy and/or distribute copyrighted music over the Internet through a peer-to-peer application.

Reproducing and distributing copyrighted works on a peer-to-peer network, such as BitTorrent, without the permission of the copyright owner, has been determined by the United States Supreme Court to be illegal. If you are caught engaging in this activity, you could be held liable.

To avoid legal consequences, you (if you are the user) should immediately delete and disable access to the unauthorized music on your computer. Learn how at the "copyright infringement notices" section of the RIAA website, available at <https://www.riaa.com/resources-learning/copyright-notices/>. That section also contains practical information about:

- how you were identified and why illegal downloading is not anonymous;
- what next steps to take; and
- where to get music online legally.

We encourage Internet subscribers to visit the website <http://www.whymusicmatters.com/> which contains a guide to the many authorized music sites where fans can go to listen to and/or purchase their favorite songs.

We have attached below the details of the illegal file-sharing that was identified on the account in question, including the time, date, and a representative sampling of the music copied or distributed. We assert that the information in this notice is accurate, based upon the data available to us. We have a good faith belief that this activity is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law. Under penalty of perjury, we submit that the RIAA is authorized to act on behalf of its member companies in matters involving the infringement of their sound recordings, including enforcing their copyrights and common law rights on the Internet. This letter does not constitute a waiver of any of our members' rights, and all such rights are expressly reserved.

If you have questions about this notice or need guidance on how to resolve this matter, feel free to contact us at (800) 656-1768 or send an email to the address listed below. If you are able to identify and resolve the problem yourself, please send us a response indicating the actions you have taken. Please reference the above noted Notice ID 222177779784 in all correspondence, which should be directed to:

Notice ID: 222175333862
Notice Date: 04-18-2020

Sir or Madam:

I am contacting you on behalf of the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA), the trade association whose member music companies create, manufacture, and/or distribute approximately 85% of all legitimate music sold in the United States.

If you are an Internet Service Provider (ISP), you have received this letter because we have identified a user on your network reproducing and/or distributing an unauthorized copy of a copyrighted sound recording(s). This letter constitutes notice to you that this user may be liable for infringing activity occurring on your network.

If you are an Internet subscriber (user), you have received this letter because your Internet account was used to illegally copy and/or distribute copyrighted music over the Internet through a peer-to-peer application.

Reproducing and distributing copyrighted works on a peer-to-peer network, such as BitTorrent, without the permission of the copyright owner, has been determined by the United States Supreme Court to be illegal. If you are caught engaging in this activity, you could be held liable.

To avoid legal consequences, you (if you are the user) should immediately delete and disable access to the unauthorized music on your computer. Learn how at the "copyright infringement notices" section of the RIAA website, available at <https://www.riaa.com/resources-learning/copyright-notices/>. That section also contains practical information about:

- how you were identified and why illegal downloading is not anonymous;
- what next steps to take; and
- where to get music online legally.

We encourage Internet subscribers to visit the website <http://www.whymusicmatters.com/> which contains a guide to the many authorized music sites where fans can go to listen to and/or purchase their favorite songs.

We have attached below the details of the illegal file-sharing that was identified on the account in question, including the time, date, and a representative sampling of the music copied or distributed. We assert that the information in this notice is accurate, based upon the data available to us. We have a good faith belief that this activity is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law. Under penalty of perjury, we submit that the RIAA is authorized to act on behalf of its member companies in matters involving the infringement of their sound recordings, including enforcing their copyrights and common law rights on the Internet. This letter does not constitute a waiver of any of our members' rights, and all such rights are expressly reserved.

If you have questions about this notice or need guidance on how to resolve this matter, feel free to contact us at (800) 656-1768 or send an email to the address listed below. If you are able to identify and resolve the problem yourself, please send us a response indicating the actions you have taken. Please reference the above noted Notice ID 222175333862 in all correspondence, which should be directed to:

Exhibit C

Frontier.com

Residential Internet Acceptable Use Policy

Customer understands that the following restrictions are applied to the service. If violated, the service will be terminated without notice.

General

Our customers may not use our network, machines, or services in any manner which:

- Violates any applicable law, regulation, treaty, or tariff.
- Violates the acceptable use policies of any networks, machines, or services which are accessed through our network.
- Infringes on the intellectual property rights of others.

Prohibited activity includes but is not limited to unauthorized use (or attempted unauthorized use) of any machines or networks, denial of service attacks, falsifying header information or user identification information, monitoring or scanning the networks of others without permission, sending unsolicited bulk email, maintaining an open mail relay, collecting email addresses from the Internet for the purpose of sending unsolicited bulk email or to provide collected addresses to others for that purpose, and transmitting or receiving copyright infringing or obscene material. Repeated copyright infringements are grounds for termination of service.

Dialup Connections

Customers may not run programs or configure machines in such a way as to keep a dialup connection active when not in use or otherwise bypass automatic disconnection for inactivity. Our users may not have multiple simultaneous connections with a single dialup account. We reserve the right to impose restrictions on or terminate accounts deemed to be in violation of these conditions.

High Speed Internet Access Service

Customers may not resell High Speed Internet Access Service ("Service") without a legal and written agency agreement with Frontier. Customers may not retransmit the Service or make the Service available to anyone outside the premises (i.e. wi-fi or other methods of networking). Customers may not use the Service to host any type of commercial server. Customers must comply with all Frontier network, bandwidth, data storage and usage guidelines. Frontier, at its sole discretion, may suspend, terminate or apply additional charges to the Service if Service usage by the Customer is determined, by the Company, to be excessive or abusive in any manner.

Remote Access

Although Frontier encourages its customers to use Remote Access Dialup when traveling, Frontier may suspend or terminate service if such usage exceeds a reasonable amount of usage that would normally be expected from a person occasionally traveling away from home. Remote Access Dialup usage is defined as Internet data calls to local access numbers beyond Frontier's local exchange telephone company territory.

Commercial Use Prohibited

Frontier's residential Internet access services are provided for residential usage only. Commercial or business use of residential services is prohibited. In the event of such usage Frontier at its option may suspend or terminate service or may move the customer to a commercial Internet access service, in which case higher charges may apply.

Email

Sending unsolicited bulk email is prohibited. Sending unsolicited bulk email from another provider advertising or implicating, directly or indirectly, the use of any service hosted or provided by us, including without limitation, email, Web, FTP, and DNS services, is prohibited and is grounds for termination of those services to customers or users who engage in the practice. Users who send unsolicited bulk email from our accounts will be charged the cost of labor to respond to complaints, with a minimum charge of $200. Customers or users who send bulk email to "opt-in" lists must have a method of confirmation or verification of subscriptions and be able to show evidence of subscription for users who complain about receiving unsolicited email. Continuing to send someone email after being asked to stop is considered harassment and is prohibited. Using email to disrupt (e.g., mail bombing, "flashing," etc.) is prohibited. Sending email with falsified header information is prohibited. Chain letters, pyramid schemes, and hoaxes are prohibited.

Email Address Harvesting

Customers and users may not use programs to harvest email addresses from the Internet for the purpose of sending unsolicited email or selling the addresses to others for that purpose. Usenet newsgroups We place no content restrictions on newsgroup postings by its users except that (a) no illegal content, including pyramid/ Ponzi schemes, is permitted and (b) all postings should conform to the various conventions, guidelines and local culture found in each respective newsgroup and Usenet as a whole.

Posting 20 or more copies of the same article in a 45-day period ("spamming") or continued posting of off-topic articles after being warned is prohibited. Users who engage in spamming using our accounts will be charged the cost of labor to issue cancellations and respond to complaints, with a minimum charge of $200. Users who engage in spamming from another provider advertising or implicating, directly or indirectly, the use of any service hosted or provided by us, including without limitation email, web, FTP, and DNS services, is prohibited and is grounds for termination of those services to those users.

Excessive crossposting (Breitbart Index of 20 or greater in a 45-day period) is prohibited. The Breitbart Index (BI) is calculated by taking the sum of the square roots of the number of newsgroups each copy of an article is crossposted to. If two articles are posted, one crossposted to 9 newsgroups and the other crossposted to 16 newsgroups, the BI = $\sqrt{9} + \sqrt{16} = 3 + 4 = 7$. Crossposting articles to newsgroups where they are off-topic is prohibited; a good rule of thumb is that if you are crossposting to more than five newsgroups, it's likely to be off-topic on at least one of them. Commercial advertising is typically off-topic and/or a violation of charter in most Usenet newsgroups.

Posting articles with falsified header information is prohibited. "Munging" header information to foil email address harvesting by "spammers" is acceptable provided that a reasonable means of replying to the message originator is given. Use of anonymous remailers is acceptable, so long as the use is not otherwise a violation of this policy. Users may not issue cancellations for postings except those which they have posted themselves, those which have headers falsified so as to appear to come from them, or in newsgroups where they are the official moderator. Users are urged to familiarize yourself with the workings of Usenet by reading FAQs regarding Usenet before becoming active participants.

The World Wide Web and FTP

The web space and public FTP space included with a dialup or DSL account may not be resold or used for adult-oriented material. We reserve the right to require that sites using such Web or FTP space which receive high amounts of traffic be moved to other servers. Web pages and FTP files may not contain any material, text, or images, whether hosted on our servers or "transclusioned" (images from another site displayed on the page) which violate or infringe any copyright, trademark, patent, statutory, common law, or proprietary rights of others. Web pages and FTP files may not contain links that initiate downloads of copyright-infringing or other illegal material. Those who believe users of our services are infringing their copyrights must submit their complaints in writing to our Designated Agent to Receive Notifications of Claimed Infringement, Mark Nielsen, dmca@frontier.com, Frontier Communications Corporation, 401 Merritt 7, Norwalk, CT 06851, 1.203.614.5600.

Servers, Proxies, and Networks

Users may not run any program which makes a service or resource available to others, including but not limited to port redirectors, proxy servers, chat servers, MUDs, file servers, and IRC bots. Users may not run such programs on their own machines to make such services or resources available to others through one of our dialup or DSL accounts; a dedicated access account is required for such purposes. Customers are responsible for the security of their own networks and machines. We will assume neither responsibility nor accountability for failures or breach of customer-imposed protective measures, whether implied or actual. Abuse that occurs as a result of a compromised customer's system or account may result in suspension of services or account access.

Storing Files

The storage of any program, utility or file on our servers the use of which would constitute a violation of this policy is prohibited. For example, it is a violation to store hacker scripts, IRC bots, or spamming software on our servers. Frontier

Frontier.com

Communications reserves the right to modify this policy at any time. Customers will receive prompt notification of all modifications.

System Notifications

In the event of system upgrades, Frontier may need to contact you via email with additional information and instructions. You are responsible for any follow-up actions defined within the email notification. If the instructions are unclear, please contact the Internet Help Desk at 1.800.584.3384. We will only distribute system notifications via email when absolutely necessary. Customers may not optout of Email System Notifications at this time. In order to protect the integrity and security of the network in an emergency, Frontier reserves the right to implement network changes without prior notification.

CHILD PORNOGRAPHY PROHIBITED

Customers may not use our network in any fashion for the transmission or dissemination of images containing child pornography. Complaints and reports of child pornography may be made to abuse-child@frontiernet.net. If circumstances indicate that child pornography is apparent, Frontier will report the circumstances to appropriate authorities, including but not limited to subscriber information relating to any person who has uploaded, transmitted, distributed or otherwise promoted the image that is the basis for the complaint. Frontier may without further notice remove, block or cease distribution of the content that is the subject of the complaint.

Termination of Service

Frontier reserves the right to discontinue service at any time, for any reason, without prior notification. Customers may terminate their account by contacting Frontier by telephone. No email cancellations will be accepted.
